

What is a cell?

All living things are made up of cells. Cells are building blocks of life. They are like tiny towns which produce and shuttle around everything needed for life.

If you look at a leaf under a microscope, you can see cells like this!

If you use a REALLY STRONG microscope, you can see all the tiny parts inside a cell that make it work!

